November 4th

Saturday morning saw southerly winds up to 12 knots. The afternoon brought heavy air from the southwest with gusts up to 40 knots. Racing was called after Race 5B due to high winds. This meant that Race 6 A which was sailed could not be scored. The weekend was overcast with a high of 50. The regatta was called due to building weather and the safety of sailors. Courses sailed were windward-leewards twice around. No protests were filed; however, there was a breakdown that was filed. Prizes were awarded to first through third places for A division, B division and overall.

Timmes Tune-Up
Northwestern University
November 11th & 12th, 2006

Saturday dawned cold and grey, with temperatures in the 40s, enormous waves and winds from the northwest from 20 to 30 knots. Racing was postponed until noon, when the race committee and NU decided to cancel racing completely due to unremitting conditions. Sailors instead enjoyed freshly cooked omelets and home-made chili and huddled together for warmth.

Sunday heralded winds that started out around 4 knots and built up to over 15 knots. The race committee ran windward-leeward races all morning. Six races were sailed before wind conditions increased to a point where racing was called. The last two A races did not count toward the results because the set was unable to be completed. Two protests were filed. NU handed out awards to the top three schools and the three lowest-score individual skippers and crews.

Thanks to all the teams who participated and made this a fun weekend, despite the sometimes frustrating and uncooperative weather. Northwestern looks forward to seeing all of you next spring!

ICSA Sloop Nationals
College of Charleston
November 17-18, 2006

Friday: Races started in an 8-10 knot westerly breeze with a flood tide. The breeze lightened to 5-8 knots by the end of the first race. All races were windward leeward with five legs. Temperature was 65 degrees with sunny skies. The fourth race was abandoned due to a lack of wind and a one tack beat. Three races with five legs were completed. One 20% penalty was taken by Coast Guard. No protests and no breakdowns.

Saturday: Seven races were sailed today in a 4-8 knot northwesterly breeze. The races were five leg windward leeward courses. Two protests were filled resulting in two DSQ's. One yellow flag was taken in race ten.

2006 TIMME ANGSTEN MEMORIAL REGATTA
CHICAGO YACHT CLUB
NOVEMBER 24-26, 2006

The final day of racing was very similar to the previous two. Air temps remained high with winds only slightly diminished from Day 2. For most of day the wind was out of the SSW but, just in time for the final B set, it backed 45 degrees to the SE requiring the RC to reset the course. A full rotation was completed with 6 more WL races added to each divisions scores. There were no protests, requests for redress or breakdowns filed on the final day of the event. Boston College was once again crowned Angsten Champion. This marks their fifth consecutive year as champions going back to 2002. This is second only to Coast Guard who won seven consecutive 'Timmes' from 1959-1965. Regatta photos can be found at <http://www.boatingshots.com> and <http://www.gtsphotos.com>

Jenny Wilson Named to FIRST ALL ACADEMIC SAILING TEAM

The Inter-Collegiate Sailing Association has recognized outstanding scholar athletes with selection to its first-ever ICSA All Academic Sailing Team honoring men and women who have succeeded at the highest level - both on the water and in the classroom

The inaugural team recognizes nine All-Academic and ten Honorable Mention student-athletes, nominated by their respective schools for academic and athletic performance during the 2005-2006 school year. To be considered eligible for this distinction, the nominee must be a key starter or reserve, maintain a cumulative GPA of 3.5 on a scale of 4.00, and have reached junior standing at his or her institution of learning.
